BOND ISSUE FOR GOOD ROADS.

Citizens of Blacksburg Will Ask Judge to Order Election.

Blacksburg, Va., September 17.—There was a large attendance of the taxpayers and citizens of the Blacksburg District at a mass-meeting in the public school building Monday afternoon to discuss the question of better roads for the district and county. Dr. S. W. Fletcher, president of the Blacksburg Board of Trade, under the auspices of which the meeting was held, presided, and an address was made by S. D. Scott, of the State Highway Commission, one of the three engineers who secently made a survey of the roads here. Mr. Scott told just what was needed to put the county roads in good shape, and a number of the representative men of the district spoke in favor of immediate action looking towards their improvement.

mediate action looking towards their improvement.

After a full discussion of the subject it was voted to petition the judge of this circuit, through the Board of Supervisors, to call an election as soon as possible to vote on a bond issue of $100.000 to build good roads in Blacksburg district. Only six votes were cast against this proposition, and the necessary paper will be drawn up at once. The meeting Monday afternoon was a thoroughly representative one, especially well-attended by the country people and the farmers. It is realized, however, by the promoters of this move that there is considerable opposition in the district to the proposed bond issue, and a systematic campaign among the voters will be undertaken by prominent and influential men.

WORK TO BEGIN AT ONCE.

Modern Sewerage System to Be Installed in Pulaski.
Pulaski.
Pulaski. Va., September 17.—Work on the Pulaski sewerage system will begin by next Saturday. The supervising superintendent for the American Light and Water Company, the contractor, reached Pulaski yesteriay, and will at once begin making his arrangements for the starting of the work. The machinery has been shipped, and also the first carload of pipe from Akron, O. The ditching machinery and all necessary enuipment is on the road and should arrive here most any day, and as soon as it is in work will begin and the sewerage system will be put in with the least possible delay in order to get work completed, or as much thereof as possible before the rough winter sets in.

thereof as possible before the rough winter sets in.

Work will begin at the lower end so as to get through the more likely wet sections of the pipe line before the ground becomes soaked. Immediately upon the approval of the legal part of the contract by Attorney Woods, representing the contracting company, orders were placed by the contractors for the shipment of the machinery and the pipe, a telegram having been received by the Chicago office before Mr. Huggins left that the initial shipment of pipe had been made. As the plans are now materializing the superintendent of the job expects to have begun work by Saturday, and will unless there is some unforseen delay. With good weather conditions the work will be completed in from four to six months, the contract cailing for a limit of six months under penalty of $19 per day over that time.

Will Be Made on Occasion of Congressman's Visit to Winchester.

Winchester, Va., September 17.—James Hay, member of Congress for this district and the chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs, has telegraphed Harry F. Byrd to the effect that he will be in Winchester one day the latter part of this week, and a special review of the brigade of cavairy will be held at the cavairy camp for Mr. Hay's benefit. The exact time of this review will be announced later on. Mr. Hay was principally instrumental in sending the cavairy regiments to Winchester this summer. He will spend a day in this city with friends.

The Business Men's Association, of Winchester, through S. L. Lupton, president, made an effort to have the members of the Congressional Military Affairs Committee accompany Mr. Hay, but on account of the pressure of government business the members of the committee could not come.

Canine Stowaway Embarks at Norfolk for Voyage to Savannah.

Norfolk, Va., September 17.—Somebody's fox terrieor took an unpremeditated voyage from Norfolk to Savannah last week on the coastwise coal-carrying steamer Dorothy as the guest of Captain Kendall. The dog took a liking to the commander of the vessel, folic ed him from Norfolk to the Lamberta a liking to the commander of the vessel, foliced him from Norfolk to the Lamberts Point coal piers, and while the master was busy getting the ship away from the pier jumped aboard. When Captain Kendail came from the bridge after the steamer had swung into the stream the dog greeted him with a wag of a stubby tail and an appealing expression, so the captain let him stay. To whom the dog belongs is a mystery. Attached to the collar was the Norfolk license tag No. 210, This tag was issued to D. W. Warren & Co., Commercial Place, last May, but Mr. Warrens says it was taken from one of his hunting logs several weeks ago, so the stowaway does not belong to him.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN.

Total Enrollment in Lynchburg About the Same as Last Year.

Lynchburg, Va., September 17.—The enrollment at the public schools, which opened Monday, show that for the coming term it is about the same as last year. The reports handed in to Superintendent E. C. Glass by the principals of the various schools show a total of 3,183 white pupils entered in the schools, 438 of these being in the high school, which is twenty-four more than last year. The complete enrollment cannot be had at the present time, as all schools have not been heard from, but Superintendent Glass stated that the total number of students yould not go far above the number of last year, and that the schools were practically filled. The colored schools have about the same number of pupils as last year, that total enrollment going something over 1800. In the colored high school 113 students have been enrolled, which is a slight increase over last year.
